

CONSTRUCTION AND FURNISHINGS FOR THE NEW AUDITORIUM

$750,000

To be receptive to training and new education, there is nothing like being in a favourable environment.

Chaleur Regional Hospital's new auditorium will answer pressing needs. While it may not directly save lives, it will promote the acquisition of knowledge and skills that will allow employees to offer improved services and better quality care. The teams will thus be better equipped to save lives. This auditorium will become a knowledge hub for students. The population in general will also be informed on the numerous subjects dealing with their health and well-being.

“With its 130 seats, the new auditorium will triple our seating capacity for doctor and hospital staff training, as well as allow us to offer services to the community as part of Vitalité Health Network’s prevention strategy. The auditorium’s increased capacity and multiple purpose aspect will help to reduce the number of repeat sessions, improve knowledge, meet training standards required, promote the development of expertise, and better serve the community.”
